A Circle Open To You

If you can cook.....you can help.
 If you can mow grass.....you can help.
 If you can teach.....you can help.
 If you can assist a teacher.....you can help.
 If you can driveyou can help.
 If you can grocery shop....you can help.
 If you can talk to peopleyou can help.
 If you can practice hospitality.....you can help.
 If you can relate to teensyou can help.
 If you can care for babies.....you can help.
 DO YOU SEE WHERE IM GOING WITH THIS? Most of us can do something.

"The Main Thing"

1. To love the Lord our God with all our heart and with all our soul and with all our mind and with all our strength.
2. To love our neighbors as ourselves.
3. To go and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, and teaching them to obey everything Christ has commanded us.

Gregg's Good News

Over the years, I have experienced differing opinions about "worship." Including a question as basic as "when do we worship?"

Some place all the weight on Rom. 12:1, "offer your bodies as living sacrifices, holy and pleasing to God—this is your spiritual act of worship." The opinion was that all of our worship takes place in the things that we do during the week. Our Sunday meeting existed solely to "spur one another on towards love and good deeds." In other words, the Sunday gathering was totally about the horizontal dimension of Christianity, "one another."

On the far opposite end of the continuum, the Sunday gathering is only about the vertical dimension of "me and God." The Sunday gathering is seen as having one purpose: creating an environment where I, in individual isolation from anyone else who is present, can have a "wow" moment of encountering God. While I assume there is a hope that the encounter alters day to day behavior, the one another aspect of gathering is deemphasized.

A healthy view of worship is somewhere in between those two extremes. Last Summer, I preached a series inviting us to grow in our sense of showing up with the expectation of meeting and honoring God because we tend too much towards our assembly only emphasizing "one another."

Those of us who are worship planners are increasingly attempting to make sure a "thread" of thought pervades the Sunday assembly so we can grow in the "vertical" dimension. Please have your ears and heart open to that thread. If you do, hopefully it will increase your sense that we are assembling in the presence of God: the Holy God who leads us to fall on our face in front of him. And when you truly encounter God, you will be a 24/7 living sacrifice.

Gregg and I had a very encouraging time this week at the Northwest Expositors Seminar at Camp Yamhill. This seminar invites in theologians and professors to share with NW ministers, elders, and others on certain topics. This year was Ephesians by Rick Oster and Preaching by Doug Peters. It was a rich time of learning. Another great thing is hearing what God is doing throughout the NW and being able to share all God is doing here at Circle. We are so blessed right now with the people we are connecting to and the opportunities God is placing before us. I pray we continue to be faithful witnesses and disciple makers.

Many of the men enjoyed the Men of Iron event in Eugene yesterday. Dr. Terry O'Casey shared insights that will help us continue to grow as men that glorify God with our lives. I pray this information leads to transformation.
