Gregg's Good News

An old song proclaims, "Friends are friends forever when the Lord's the Lord of them." There is something about Christian fellowship and family that persists even as other things change.

One of the realities of living in this congregation is the fact that people come and go frequently. If you are not a person who can deal with "Goodbyes," this is a tough place to belong. If, on the other hand, we are convinced that we will enjoy eternity with brothers and sisters, it becomes easier to deal with times of transition.

Usually, I am faced with the sadness of Goodbye at Graduation season. Each Spring we send numerous people on from Circle.

But this is on my mind today because last evening at Life group we had a time of focused prayer and blessing for Qiang Li and Ting Yang. Qiang and Ting were members of the core group from the first meeting of International Life Group. Now they will be moving to Bellevue, Washington as Qiang begins a new job.

There are two things that make it easier for me to live in this come and go congregation.

1. I continue to voice the following as vision for Circle Church of Christ. "Changing the World by Communicating Christ: From Corvallis to the Continents" While Qiang and Ting have been with us, we have deliberately worked to equip them, with a focus on communicating Christ in word and deed. "Success is sending."

2. I called Bellevue Church of Christ some weeks ago to inform them about this family moving from Corvallis. Qiang and Ting were able to meet with that congregation last Sunday. Knowing that other Christians are ready to meet people who move from Circle with open arms makes the departures much more endurable.

Tradition and empowerment are two important aspects of a ministry. People like traditions. They give us something to look forward to and provide stability in what is often a very busy life.

I work very hard to empower the students at the UCC. When people know that they can make decisions and do things without interference from others, they become more invested in the work they do. Others see their excitement and happily join them to make their vision happen.

Tomorrow is Martin Luther King Jr Day, a day when the students don't have classes. A tradition at UCC is for me to take a group of students to Portland on this day. But this year, I am breaking that tradition to keep another one. I will be at Expositor's Seminar with Gregg. It is an annual Continuing Ed. opportunity for ministers to be taught by professors from brotherhood Christian universities.

Our students have really enjoyed going to Portland in the past. They were empowered to plan and promote this trip, and because of their excitement there will be 2 vans of students going to Portland tomorrow.
