This picture was sent to us by Jim Gullette in Puerto Rico. He works for the Church of Christ we sent money for hurricane relief to. He says things are slowly improving, and he thanks you all for your generosity!

Distributing food in the name of Christ to hurricane victims

"The Main Thing"

1. To love the Lord our God with all our heart and with all our soul and with all our mind and with all our strength.

2. To love our neighbors as ourselves.

3. To go and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, and teaching them to obey everything Christ has commanded us.

Gregg's Good News

Years ago, I remember a couple of older Christian men who often summed up the life of a Christian with this simple phrase: "Be a servant." It was a sentiment that often found its way into their teaching.

The idea is rooted firmly in Jesus' own thought. After describing the hierarchical style that functions so often in organizations and life, Jesus suggested an alternative. "Instead, whoever wants to become great among you must be your servant, and whoever wants to be first must be slave of all. For even the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many." Mark 10:43-44

I remember their verbal teaching in support of the servant lifestyle. But I also remember seeing them do things like welcome a homeless person to spend the night. Inviting a young prostitute on the run from a motorcycle gang to live with their family. Sharing a simple meal with a heart broken college student even when family finances were extremely tight.

The benefit to people in need in those examples is obvious. But what about benefit to the servant? It was often inconvenient for those people to be servants. People they served did not always treat them well. But what benefit did they feel? Why did they continue to serve?

I believe the answer begins right back at the words of Jesus. They understood that serving was imitation of Christ. And the response of those being served was not what determined the value of the service. Contentment with obedience and doing what Jesus would do was the "payoff" for their actions.

Tonight will be the final session on "Handling Stress." I plan to show a TED talk video that will give you insight that may save and lengthen your physical life, and prompt you to serve.

Today we are worshipping with the Placerville Church of Christ in California. We have been blessed through the years with their hospitality in opening their homes and providing a potluck meal for us after we lead worship.

Here is a good quote that I read recently in the Christian Chronicle. "I know there are those among us who express that they wish things would get back to normal. My reply is, 'This is the new normal.' The younger generations do not care what the name is on the church building. They want to be with a church that is making a difference in their neighborhoods and in the world, who will mentor them and hold them personally accountable" (Dottie Shulz, Missions Resource Network).

I am glad that Circle is a church that loves college students and invests in them. That Circle works to make a difference in the world and our community. I hope you join me in praying for Circle as we continue to listen to the next generation, empower the next generation of leaders and disciple them.
