Gregg's Good News

Even though the Thanksgiving weekend is behind us, I want to thank God for my teammates: Josh Stutzman and Maria Zhang.

Josh is finishing up his first term as the Campus Minister. Most everyone is aware of his good work ethic and ability to connect with International students. You may not know the top-notch insight Josh has to Scripture and Theology. I count it a privilege to bounce ideas off him, knowing his thoughts are rooted in a good foundation.

Maria brings a diverse set of skills to the church office. In addition to her warm and welcoming telephone skills, Maria has a great heart for our shut-ins. While juggling administrative tasks, financial reports and numerous office duties—Maria still makes time for International outreach, discipling and visiting.

I hope you will join me in thanking God for these servants.

quickly my mind jumped to the conclusion that people who like the "Coexist" mindset are goofy drivers.

I mention that primarily to remind us how quickly people can jump to conclusions. When you wear that "Jesus died for me" T-shirt or paste on that "Jesus is my copilot" bumper sticker—you better recognize that people are evaluating your actions in view of that public declaration. So, be sure that when you go public with your Christianity, your life is shining light.

Thoughts, Questions, Notes

1655 NW Monroe Ave, Corvallis, OR 97330

I want to give special thanks to Misty & James Freeman, Jerry & Sue Smith, Linda Leslie & Kathy Hammond, Mark & Nancy Johnson, Casey & Darla Long and all the others who hosted students for Thanksgiving. We hosted at least 22 young people for Thanksgiving

this year!

On the first Thanksgiving, 100 pilgrims, seeking religious freedom and desiring to more accurately establish the Kingdom of God, came to America and struggled. With the help of Almighty God and the generous support of the indigenous peoples, they enjoyed a bountiful harvest and survived their first winter in a new land.

How very fitting that 397 years later, we have an opportunity to show hospitality to International students, just as the Wampanoag tribe showed hospitality to the Pilgrims. Many students come from countries where religious expression is restricted/forbidden, and they get their first taste of God's kingdom here at Circle. My prayer is that Circle will always destroy the dividing walls of racism and xenophobia with the sacrificial love of Jesus Christ (Ephesians 2:14-18).

I would just like to say a great big shout out and thank you to our Church family for their support, prayers and donations towards the Kindness Walk I participated in. over 1,400,000 steps were taken and 450 miles were completed. We only lack about 1500.00 to reach our fundraising goal so a little boy can get his service dog. Lots of God stories to share and remember from the walk. We give Him all the glory!

ALL HANDS ON DECK: Everyone who is available, please come to the building on Wednesday December 5th at 6pm to decorate for the Christmas Sing-A-Long. We need all the help we can get!
