Thomas' Takeaways

Relevancy

"[The Bible] is inherently and unfailingly relevant. Our task as teachers of the Bible is not to make it relevant, as if we could, but rather by explaining it and applying it, the text that is, we have the privilege of showing how relevant it actually is." - Alistair Begg

I came across this quote this week from Begg's two-part lecture on Ecclesiastes (I'm still working through it, but I'd already recommend it, and be happy to share it with you.) It struck me because there are many conversations addressing the very issue of how to make the Bible relevant, especially to younger people. Begg's point is that to ask that question means you're already off kilter. The better question is how best to show the Bible's relevancy to, in, and through our lives.

I was thinking of this quote Wednesday night as we set up the clothing giveaway tents and racks. The clothing giveaway is a big thing that does indeed take time and energy. It's easy to lose why we do it considering the stress it brings, never-ending bags and constant need for upkeep, yet the why has never been more important.

The clothing giveaway is to take care of those in need in the name of Christ, the very Christ that Scripture speaks of, in whom there is true, eternal life. The giveaway is part of that privilege by which we show that Scripture is relevant, that whom Scripture speaks of is the most relevant figure in history.

Hopefully this encourages you as it does me, that we don't work in the clothing drive just for clothes or because we do every year, but the giveaway is indeed part of the proclaiming of Christ, and why He is needed in this world. It shows, like our whole life should, what happens when a group of people decide service in His name is worth their time and effort. What a relevant lesson for this world. Grace to you.

Today's Announcements

Church Garage Sale-August 31st

Please gather donations for the sale, but keep them at home for now.

Welcome Bags for College Students

We need people to bake goodies or bring items to fill bags. Sign ups are in the foyer. See Jann Bracht with questions.

Adopt-A-Student Program

Sign up in the foyer if you would like to "adopt" a college student for the academic year. See Chris Jensen with questions.

Time To Bring Change Cans Back

Please bring your Mountain States Children's Home change cans to the church building tonight!

"It's the most wonderful time....of the year!!!" That's right, it is almost time for the students to come back to Corvallis!

I would like to thank Jann Bracht, Chris Jensen, and Emily Jensen for their work on making Welcome Bags for students, organizing a garage sale for the youth group and UCC, and reintroducing the "Adopt-A-Student" program. So many young adults fall away from their faith when they go to college, but with these programs and events, I think we can help lots of young people start adulthood right, with good spiritual decisions. Church, we need your help to make a difference in people's lives! Please consider donating items for Welcome Bags or adopting a student for this school year!

Also, please consider making a difference in an International student's life through the Friendspeak program. And if you are a member of Friendspeak, please make sure to complete Circle's background check form. Let's make this year great together!
