Thomas' Takeaways

Were You A Christian First This Week?

My question this week is simple, and the title of this article sums it up pretty well: Were you a Christian first this week?

My expectations for this week, like most of 2020, were totally different from reality, and I would be willing to go so far as to say that most of you feel the same way. We had an election on Tuesday, and I know that most states are still figuring out mail-in voting, I know there is a pandemic that is not making anything easier, and I know this is an important process governed by a lot of safety and security measures...but I also know I expected to know who our next President will be by Wednesday morning! But, as a Christian First, I KNOW who my King is, and that God is bigger than our election and He is still in control. Despite the political turmoil of the week, being a Christian First enabled me to have peace as I watched everything play out.

But what does being a Christian First look like in your day-to-day life? How would that impact your life with your family? With your friends? At school or work? Can everyone around you see that your faith and your relationship with God brings you peace despite the chaos around you? I know a lot of things are unpredictable, especially this year. But I hope that these questions help you slow down, breathe in, breathe out, and know that God loves you and is in control, no matter what. Grace to you.

Special thanks to Lindsay House for leading our Halloween party this week! Also, Conner Harless did a lot of work on the party as well—thank you Conner! We had one guest and a few involved who usually don't come Tuesday nights, so it was a great success...PLUS everyone wore masks and maintained appropriate distances. Activities included Halloween Headbands, a mummy hunt, pumpkin bowling, monster darts and more. Many Halloween parties in college towns are debauchery at best, downright evil at worst. It was good to see our students come together and create a fun, positive alternative to all the craziness. Also, the party fulfilled its purpose of being a platform of invitation so that we can “communicate Christ from Corvallis to the continents.” Great job team!
